

Moscow mayor Sergei Sobyenin announced that starting June 9, 2020, self-isolation and pass control in the city of Moscow will be canceled. Along with them, the walking schedule is also canceled. More information

All major restrictions – subject to maintaining epidemiological safety and taking into account sanitary measures – will be lifted in June. All residents of the city can go outside without restrictions, use transport and visit public places.

Starting June 9, hairdressers, beauty salons, photo studios, veterinary clinics and employment agencies can resume their work. The restrictions on car sharing work are canceled. Public organizations, film studios, recording studios, and research institutes can return to their normal activities. Theaters, concert organizations, and circuses can hold rehearsals for creative groups. Restrictions on visiting city cemeteries are also lifted.

June 16 – restrictions on routine care in dental clinics will be lifted. Libraries, real estate offices, rental services, advertising, consulting and other agencies that provide services to citizens and businesses will resume their work. Museums, exhibition halls and zoos will open. They can be visited using e-tickets. It is allowed to attend sports events, provided that the stands are not more than 10% full.

Restaurants and cafes are planned to open in two stages. From June 16, summer verandas will start working in the city, and a week later – stationary catering establishments.

Starting June 23, 2020, it is planned to lift restrictions on the work of the sports industry – fitness clubs, swimming pools and fitness centers will be open. Passenger navigation on the Moscow river will be resumed. Restrictions on the operation of kindergartens, including non-governmental institutions, will also be lifted.

On June 23, it is planned to lift restrictions on the use of public infrastructure elements - playgrounds, public sports grounds, benches, etc.

Organizations that resume work must comply with the requirements of sanitary and epidemiological safety established by Rospotrebnadzor and the Moscow city authorities.

Also during a meeting of the Presidium of the Coordination Council to Combat COVID-19, Prime Minister Mikhail Mishustin announced that Russian citizens will be able to go abroad to work, study, treat, or to take care for relatives. The government also allowed foreigners to enter Russia for treatment or to take care for relatives. Corresponding decrees have already been signed. More information

However, the EU external borders remain closed until July 1, 2020. More information